

Academic Support Center

Every year, thousands of students benefit from free tutoring, academic advising, career counseling, and other resources provided through the Academic Support Center (ASC). A program of the Office of the Vice President for Diversity, Equity, and Multicultural Affairs (OVPDEMA), the ASC is designed to put students on a path to success from the first day of classes with offerings that include tutoring, spaces for learning, technology, peer coaching, workshops, and more. These resources are easily accessible, free to students, and offered at cultural centers, in three campus residence halls, and OVPDEMA academic units.

Additional Student Support

Indiana University is here to help you improve your studying skills and develop learning strategies to use while enhancing your education during college and beyond. As a supplement to the range of free tutoring and academic support services provided through the Academic Support Center, many departments also offer private tutors. If you're struggling academically or just want to learn about new studying techniques, we are here for you!
